

STAR HURLERS IN BASEBALL SERIES

Bachrach-Stars Series Opens at Mack Park Saturday.

Detroit baseball fans will have the opportunity to see two of the best colored baseball pitchers in the business in action here during the Bachrach-Giants-Detroit Stars series which starts Saturday afternoon at Mack Park.

"Cannonball" Redding and "String Bean" Williams are the moundsmen, the former being remembered while hurling for Rube Foster's American Giants and the latter as an A. B. C. twirler of recent years.

These moundsmen figured in a 15-inning 2-2 tie at Navin Field in 1918. At that time Redding was on the American Giants' roster and Williams with the A. B. Cs.

The Bachrachs have a strong team which last season won the colored championship of the east. This year they are figuring in the National colored baseball league series and are making their first trip west. The lineup includes many well-known pastimers and is as follows: Redding, Williams, Treadwell and Ryan, pitchers; Rojo, c; Pierce, 1b; Barber, 2b; Marcell, 3b; Lundy, ss; Brown, Pugh and Means, outfielders. Saturday's game starts at 3.

Detroit Free Press, Detroit, MI

Saturday, July 31, 1920, Page 13, Column 3