

GIANTS LIFT LID SUNDAY

Baseball played upon the diamond by men in uniform is almost upon us here in Chicago. The warm sun is out and the fans are beginning to lay their bets and inquire as to starting time of the games. The owners of the American Giants are well satisfied with their efforts thus far towards giving the fans a winner, and while not making any early predictions, have very strong convictions about how strong the Giants will contend, and know that they will be among the leaders.

What sort of a team have we really got? What pitcher for the grand occasion of April 11? How will the remodeled infield stack up? Such are the queries, and such are the questions that will keep discussion going vigorously till the start of the opening battle.

Chicago Defender, Chicago, IL

Saturday, April 10, 1920, Page 11, Column 7