

Chicago Giants Invade New York Sunday; Play Bacharach

New York, Aug. 20.—The Bacharach Giants, fresh from their western trip, will appear at Ebbet's field Sunday in a double-header with Rube Foster's Chicago Giants. This team bears a fine reputation as one of the strongest semi-pro teams in the West and will give the easterners a stiff fight.

The westerners, who opened up their eastern invasion at Shibe park, Philadelphia, against Connor's team Monday, boasts of such moundsmen as Walter Ball, who will pitch one of the games against Dick Redding, Taylor, Smithson and McDougal. They also have a star shortstop in Anderson, who is said to be the equal of Dick Lundy, Connor's pet.

The first game will start at 2 p. m. sharp and a brass band of 40 pieces will furnish the jazz for the occasion.
