

Leaguers Rout the Giants

Big Taylor, the pitcher recruit who was put on trial for his baseball life with the American Giants, was forced to consume an awful bunch of punishment right in the very first round on his local debut last Sunday. About the only alibi that could be offered for the slaughter of the new hurler would be little Williams' failure to hold pop fly on a hard chance, and that would have retired but one. After five batters touched the sphere, a total of eight hits, with a base on balls, which netted them five runs. However, Williams did get his act to working when he allowed two balls to get by him, the same two men subsequently scoring. Wriggins was not at home on the hot corner, and Brown seemed out of place in right field. The old stand-bys, Dixon, Goss and DeMoss, by the aid of Grant, Williams and Taylor, pulled some mighty fast plays. The boys hit well, but not at opportune times. When the Giants have had an opportunity for regular work, with Torrenti here, and others, also when the new men become free from being crowd shy, no serious doubt exists over the class that they are expected to reveal. As it is, raw recruits, some of whom never saw a big league game before coming here, then being called to fill the shoes of some of our greatest players, and to do it before hostile and biased fans, we say it is a task. More than twenty years of experience in the game here has taught us to know that Chi is the toughest town in the world to break up at. "Rube" found that to be true in 1902; he left and returned a star. Petway did likewise. That should be some consolation to the youngster who is now having a hard row to hoe.

GIANTS					DODGERS
	R.	H.	P.	A.		R.	H.	P.	A.
Seese, lf....	2	2	0	0	Rudolph, 2b..	2	2	1	3
DeMoss, 2b..	0	2	8	3	Wotell, 3b..	2	1	1	0
J. Brown, rf..	1	1	0	1	Pande, rf....	1	2	1	0
Dixon, c....	0	1	7	3	Walsh, 1b....	1	3	7	3
Gans, lf.....	0	0	0	1	Dann, cf....	1	1	4	0
Grant, 1b....	1	1	7	1	Spreitzer, lf..	0	0	2	0
Wiggins, 3b..	0	1	1	0	Steger, ss....	1	0	2	3
Williams, ss..	1	2	2	0	Olson, d....	0	2	5	0
Taylor, p....	1	0	1	3	Ehrhardt, p..	1	0	1	4
Marshall, p..	0	1	0	1
Totals.....	6	11	27	13	Totals.....	9	11	27	13

Totals.....
 Two-base hits—Walsh, Rudolph, Brown.
 Three-base hits—Dann. Stolen bases—Dixon,
 Reese, Bunde. Double plays—Taylor to Grant,
 Gans to DeMoss to Dixon; DeMoss to Dixon.
 Bases on balls—Off Taylor, 3; off Marshall, 8;
 off Karhardt, 2. Hit by batter—Marshall. Wild pitch—Marshall. Passed ball—Dixon. Olson.
 Struck out—By Taylor, 3; by Marshall, 3; by Karhardt, 6. Left on bases—Giants, 8; Dodgers,
 6. Umpires—Goeckel and Dane.

Chicago Defender, Chicago, IL

Saturday, May 1, 1920, Page 11, Column 2