

denly changed from the bushes to fast company.

Of course, the new hurler, Marshall, was really responsible for putting his team in such a bad predicament by his inability to locate the platter, but with any kind of decent support would not have been scored upon but for several blunders on the part of the aforementioned recruits, as the visiting team only connected with his delivery for one safe hit, and that did not figure in the scoring of the runs. A bad throw by Ewing to stop a man stealing second started things going; then, with a runner trapped between third and the plate, he threw the ball to left field and two runs galloped across in the first inning. The Giants got one of them back in their half on a two-base hit by Reese, followed by another by Torrienti. Things went along well until the third inning, when with two out Lane secured the only hit made off Marshall; then two bases on balls, coupled with three errors by Wingfield, at shortstop, gave the Daytons four runs, bringing their total to six. At this point Rube injected the old heads into the game, and the Giants set about trying to drag the old game out of the fire, and were only prevented from doing so by some swell pitching by Wilson, who had relieved Lane when the Giants were threatening to make good. This, with some of the freakiest kind of breaks ever seen in a ball game, combined to stop the home club just one run shy of a tie, and the game finished that way in spite of the fact Rube rushed up some heavy reinforcements at the crucial moment, who tried hard, but could not produce the necessary tally to tie it up.

The large crowd completely unnerved the youngsters, and they will have to have more seasoning before they can hope to make good in fast company. Dave Brown, who relieved Marshall in the fourth inning, pitched a remarkable game, holding the hard-hitting Daytonas to a solitary hit and striking out ten men. He pitched to only three men per inning, beginning with the fourth, and if the Giants could have scored one more run for him he would have easily defeated the visitors, as they could not fathom his benders at all. Torrienti was the leading hitter, securing three of the Giants' hits, including a two-base wallop that scored the first run for the home team. The score:

DAYTON MARCOS

| | R | H | P | A |
|-----------------|---|---|----|---|
| Brown, cf... | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 |
| Wingfield, 2b.. | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 |
| Lane, p, 3b.. | 2 | 1 | 0 | 3 |
| Taylor, 3b,sa.. | 1 | 0 | 4 | 7 |
| Hecker, 1b... | 1 | 0 | 14 | 0 |
| Alexander, lf.. | 1 | 0 | 2 | 1 |
| Tompkins, rf.. | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Britt, c..... | 0 | 1 | 5 | 1 |
| Cun'ham, sa.. | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 |
| Wilson, p.... | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 |

Totals... 6 2 27 18

AMERICAN GIANTS

| | R | H | P | A |
|-----------------|---|---|----|---|
| Reese, lf.... | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 |
| Malarcher, 3b0 | 0 | 0 | 4 | 1 |
| DeMoss, 2b.. | 1 | 0 | 3 | 1 |
| Torrienfl, cf.. | 1 | 3 | 0 | 0 |
| Ewing, c | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Dixon, c..... | 1 | 0 | 11 | 3 |
| Gans, rf | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Grant, 1b.... | 0 | 0 | 9 | 2 |
| Wingius, ss.. | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| B. Wilms, sa.. | 1 | 1 | 0 | 2 |
| Marshall, p.. | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |
| D. Brown, p.. | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 |

| | | | | |
|-----------|---|---|----|----|
| Totals... | 5 | 5 | 27 | 12 |
|-----------|---|---|----|----|

[illegible]

Boyd hit for Grant in the 9th. J. Brown hit for D. Brown in the 9th.

Errors—Taylor, Cunningham, Ewing 3, Wiggins 2. Two base hits—Reese, Torrienti. Double plays—Taylor to Hooker; Dixon to DeMoss. Bases on balls—Off Lane 2, off Wilson 1, off Marshall 6, off Brown 2. Struck out—By Wilson 4, by D. Brown 10. Stolen bases—Dayton:

Brown 2. Giants—Reese, Torpenti, D. Brown,
J. Brown. Umpires—Goskel and St. John.
Time of game—2 hours 10 minutes. Attendance
—7,000.

Chicago Defender, Chicago, IL

Saturday, May 22, 1920, Page 9, Columns 6 and 7