

BABE RUTH'S NINE BEATEN BY BACHARACH GIANTS

The Bacharach Giants defeated Babe Ruth's All-Stars at Shibe Park yesterday by the score of 9 to 4.

Instead of a big league outfit, as the posters promised, the "All-Stars" had only Wally Schang, Carl Mays and Hoffman in the lineup. O'Doul, of the Yanks, played in right field, but he muffed the only chance that came his way, aside from fanning twice and forcing men the other times. The rest of the personnel was composed of a lot of grammar school athletes—at least they performed like such.

Anyway, the seashore nine played the well-known rings-around those "All-Stars" in every department. They grabbed eight runs off Carl Mays in the first six innings, then the Babe consented to ditch and he allowed them another run in the remaining frames. Until the seventh, the "All-Stars" were unable to touch Redding, then came the usual Ruth clout, and in the ninth George Herrgan started another rally and three more tallies were added.
