

HILDALE SPLITS EVEN BEFORE RECORD CROWD

The attendance at Hilldale Park, Darby, was a record-breaker, both morning and afternoon. About 7500 witnessed the morning game and saw Hilldale bow to Norfolk, Va., team, 4 to 3. The afternoon figures ran near 20,000, and Hilldale was the victor, although the crowd that had encircled the field inside the playing territory broke up the game in the eighth inning after one man had been retired in Hilldale's turn in that frame. Santop, the idol of the fans, was striding for the plate with his mighty stick in hand and everyone seemed to want to get a close up view of the home run king of the independent ranks, and upon the failure of the police to get the crowd back sufficiently to continue play umpire Griffith called the game with Hilldale leading, 3 to 2.
