

Rube Foster and his men journeyed to Kansas City last week and had a lot of their chestyness taken out of them. The K. C. Monarchs, recently strengthened with several "real up-and-doing players," fought them to a stand-still. Thirty thousand fans saw the five games.

The Gazette, Cleveland, OH

Saturday, August 14, 1920, Page 3, Column 4