

BROOKLYN GIANTS TO MEET CUBANS HERE

A series of baseball games is to be played at the American League Park next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday between the Cuban Stars, of Havana, Cuba, and the Brooklyn Royal Giants, of Brooklyn, N. Y., for the purpose of deciding the semi-professional championship of the world. Both the Cuban Stars and Brooklyn Royal Giants have established their superiority over the other semi-professional clubs in this country and Cuba, and since neither can claim the undisputed championship without vanquishing the other, three games between these two top-notch aggregations have been arranged.

The series was to have been played in Brooklyn during the first week in October, but since it seems certain that Brooklyn will stage the major league world series about the same time. It was decided to bring these games to Washington.

The Brooklyn Royal Giants are very popular in their own city, where they have been playing to crowds of 12,000 or more on Saturdays and Sundays while the "Robins" have been away. Aside from sending the best colored teams down to defeat during the present season the Royals have also taken the scalps of "Heinie" Zimmerman's All-Stars and "Jeff" Tesreau's Teddy Bears.

The Cuban Stars have not only defeated the best ball clubs in Cuba but during the present season they have met and defeated practically every semi-professional team in this country, except the Brooklyn Royal Giants and one or two other clubs that have refused to face them.

The Washington Herald, Washington, DC

Sunday, September 19, 1920, Page 13, Column 7