

ARMOURS PLAY UNION GIANTS ON LOCAL LOT

The Armours, a local semi-pro club, will play a three-game series with the Chicago Union Giants at Rourke park Saturday and Sunday, one game Saturday and a double-header on the Sabbath.

There are two negro clubs calling themselves the Chicago Union Giants this year. One is playing in Chicago, and the other is on the road. The Chicago club claims the one which is to play the Armours are not the genuine Chicago Union Giant team, but manager Delaware of the Armours says he cannot learn which is which so he gives the traveling club the benefit of the doubt and is using the name given him by that club.

Lefty Powers and Echter have been signed by the Armour. He will pitch the Saturday game with Andy Graves and Art Dyck on the mound in the Sunday games.

September 6 and 7 the League of Nations club, consisting entirely of former overseas soldiers, will play the Armour here. Friday the Navy team plays the Armour at Rourke park.
