

CALDWELL IN HARLEM GAME.

Ray Caldwell, one time star pitcher of the Yankees, who recently won a no hit game for the Red Sox, will make his first appearance of the season among the ranks of the semi-pros, when he pitches for the All-Leaguers against the Lincoln Giants in the first game of a double header at Olympic Field, 136th street and Fifth avenue. He will be opposed by Cyclone Joe Williams. In the second game Ray Keating, another one time Yankee who played with the Braves this year, will pitch against the Lincoln Giants.

The Sun, New York, NY

Saturday, October 4, 1919, Page 16, Column 6