

Black Barons to Open Series With Caulfields

The Birmingham negro team, with an almost completely new lineup, will open a four-game series with the Caulfield Acs at Heinemann Park this afternoon, the negro team taking advantage of the dates that the Pelicans are at Mobile.

The "Black Barons" are in reality the old "Cuban Giants" team, which has been famous in this country for a number of years. In Juanelo, a Cuban negro, they have one of the star pitchers of the negro Southern league. The Caulfields lost a little ground on their last road trip and are now in third place, but only a few points behind Montgomery and Knoxville, the two leaders. Birmingham is fourth. Nearly every game the New Orleans negroes lost on the road was decided by one or two runs.

This afternoon's game starts at 3:30, and the negroes say they'll play, "rain or shine."
