

The Austin Reds makes their first public announcement in this week's issue of the Express. According to the line-up the public can draw upon its imagination the relative strength of the club. The team is under management of W. B. Patterson, a veteran of the game whose ability was responsible for an association of Austin Colored men getting together with sufficient backing in furnishing this city with one of the strongest clubs in Texas.

A following line-up:

Daniels, catcher; Black Tank, pitcher; Buck Alexander, pitcher; Tom Calloway, 1st base; Larry Jones, 2nd base, Dick Walker, short-stop; Lawson Perry, 3rd base; Joe Goodrich, left-field; DeWitt, right-field; Taylor, center-field; and Jerry Lewis, catcher.

Austin, claim this bunch will make anything in Texas hustle to win. Most of the stars in the line-up are familiar figures around the loop and has set this league on fire in former years.

The Austin Reds defeated the fast Samuel Huston College club Friday by a score of 2 to 1 with Black Tank Stewart pitching. The game was very stubbornly fought.

Dallas Express, Dallas, TX

Saturday, April 12, 1919, Page 11, Columns 1 and 2