AMERICAN GIANTS ON COAST.

Porteus Baxter in The Post-Intelligencer, Seattle, Washington:

Rain and lots of it did not prevent Seattle and Rube Foster's Chicago Colored Giants from playing baseball yesterday afternoon at the Rainier valley Strange as it may seem, sidering the conditions, they recled off full innings in one hour twenty-flye minutes—a fast game kind of weather. The pitching good, the fielding fine, and faithful who braved the weather had the first chance of the season to see the famous Petway behind the Believe me, he is some catcher. sad part of the affair was that Seattle lost by a score of 4 to 0.

The distinction of "whitewashing" Scattle for the first time this year goes to Bali. He pitched a steady, consistent game and had fine support all the way through despite a wet ball and slippery grounds. Seattle grabbed only four hits off his delivery, two of which were credited to Jack Veatty. Bowcock and Kippert plucked the other two.

Score by innings:
