

PALMER'S GANG WHIPS GIANTS TWO TIMES

Pantages Whale Pitcher Dix-mude for Six Runs, While Schneider Holds "Elite" Safe; Foster Has Grooms

There is mourning below the Mason-Dixon line of San Diego this cloudy morn. For the colored hosts of the rotund Keuben Foster, generalissimo, of the Chicago American Giants were whanged ingloriously not only Saturday but again yesterday, the troops of Will Palmer bouncing the ebony pitching offerings with a far fetching latitude for six digits while the dusksies collected for themselves two of same.

Dixmude, a rangy well meaning finger of the right handed type is the brunt of most of the dark sets verbal attack. And it all comes about because Dixie started yesterday's tilt with perfectly honorable intentions but soon saw his salary wing refusing to command the old baseball and Palmer's hired hands falling on it with uncton to say the least. In practice Dix has a ton of stuff but once on the hillock everything came up straight as an arrow. six runs, the afternoon's work of the Pantages outfit being piled off him in the first three innings.

Whereon the portly Foster called on one Wickware, shouldering a watermelon grin to supplant Dix, which he did with such alacrity and class that had he started the game, there might have been a vastly different story to tell.

Pantages got one hit off the speed and burst of Wick in the last five innings, but the "dam-age had been done" as Foster exclaimed late in the evening.

Peter Schneider, one of the young sensations of the National league, his pay checks reading Cincinnati Reds, tolled on the firing mound for San Diego. Schneider was a trifle wild but had great steam and the colored batsmen were stopping sideways when he got them across, which he did in the tight places.

Saturday's

"Rhino" Hitt, the corpulent Vernon left-hander, was all set in glory Saturday afternoon, holding the Giants well in tow and spanking out three hits, one a triple, all of which figured in the Pantages' run getting. Berger, with two doubles; Hosp, with three hits, and Litschi a brace of bluffs, shared the honors with the pitcher. Williams, the dusky hurler, was met too often for his own good.
