NOTES OF THE A. B. C.'S.

(By "Young" Knox.)

We haven't lost a game at the Federal park yet. Let us hope we don't.

Ben Taylor practically won Sunday's game, when he hit for a home run with the bases full.

Dieta Johnson won two games from the Cuban's in three days. Keep up the good work, Dieta.

Chacon got a home run in Tuesday's game. Only one made at Northwestern park during the series.

Monday's game, which was won by the Cuban's, was featured by some sensational fielding by each club.

Pedroso, of the Cubans, is certainly a ball player. He played left field, pitched and caught in Sunday's game. Some record.

Charleston and Clarke were the batting kings in Sunday's game. They each gathered three hits off the islander's twirlers.

Ben Taylor got three hits Monday. A three bagger, a double, and a single. Allen got three also, one of which was a double.

The A's only got three hits in Tuesday's game, but as two of them came in the first inning, it helped to win the game.

Charleston, DeMoss and Allen were the ones to connect safely with Padron's slants. Charleston and Allen hit for two baggers.

Everybody interested in the baseball wrangle between the "American Giants" of Chicago, read what C. I. Taylor has to say in the Freeman this week.

The Cubans have at last gone from our midst. Next on the program will be the Lincoln Stars, with the famous "Cannon Ball" Redding. Let us hope we have as good luck as we had before.

The people didn't "fall" for Rube Foster's article as he thought they would, as everyone that saw the games between the two clubs, could clearly see that Mr. Foster exaggerated things very much.

Dismukes hurt his hand last week, and was unable to get into action during the week, but Dizzy says he is in tip top shape to face the Lincoln at Federal Park, Sunday. Here's trusting that you are, old boy.

Shively, the pride of Bloomington, was out of the lineup, Sunday. He was worked so faithfully this season, it was thought a little rest might do him some good. As the A's had on their hitting togs, he was not missed.
