
AMERICAN GIANTS TROUNCE THE OMAHA GIANTS; 11 TO 2.

(By Carey B. Lewis.)

CHICAGO, Ill., June 7.—It was an ideal day and probably the largest crowd of the season was present last Sunday to give welcome to colored ball players. They were the Omaha Giants, and why they are called Giants is a mystery. They were the poorest set of dubs seen in this city. They played prairie ball, or like the kind we used to see on the commons. Their excuse was that four of their men got left Saturday night. If the other four were like the ones we saw, may they remain where they are. Were it not for the two errors of Baughman, at second, they would not have received the two scores registered in their favor, for Jenkins pitched a good game and then he did not let himself out. The Omaha boys used two pitchers; one was about as good as the other, and the home guards piled up nineteen hits off of them. They were scheduled to play a series, but Mr. Foster canceled them, as he saw that they could not pull, as the crowd began to leave in the seventh inning. Score:
