

All Nations Here for Three Games With the Storz

The Storz will play their greatest rivals, the All Nations, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, at Rourke park.

John Donaldson, the king of colored slabmen; "Jap" Pacobi, star pitcher of the Tokio university, during their 1913 tour of the United States, and Paul Jones, a southpaw recruit, will probably work against the brewers.

Captain Goding will most likely use Olson, Hayes and Gray, reserving Hayes to battle with Donaldson. The return of Harry Welch to the local's lineup will add materially to their hitting strength.

The addition of Joe Vanous, at first, and Frank Woodruff on short, with Captain Goding behind the bat, working like a well-oiled machine, with Durkee on third and "Grand Island" Graham on second make the Storz infield the greatest combination ever assembled on a local team.

Omaha Daily Bee, Omaha, NE

Friday, May 28, 1915, Page 5, Column 1