

Dunn Center drew a beautiful day for the celebration there Monday and those who attended report an enormous crowd. No one could really tell where all the 3,000 people did come from. The Indians moved over from Killdeer and held a pow-wow, and the Tennessee Rats gave a minstrel show but dropped a ball game to Dunn Center. In fact, nothing was missing but the airship from the program.

Dickinson Press, Dickinson, ND

Saturday, July 10, 1915, Page 1, Column 1