(By Billy Lewis.)

Robert Williams thought it would be a good idea to get the colored business men of Indianapolis and interested in playing a game of baseball for the benefit of the young institutions—namely the Lincoln Hospital. Williams is fairly busy, but he visited the business men, succeeded in getting some of them up to speed, and they really enjoyed playing ball. They discussed among themselves what they could do, and what they would do when they met on August 7th. So they were organized with but very little delay, and the fellows were ready for the test.

There are those, as the most of us, who are just as good as the white fellows. This is particularly true of the fellows who range from the executive. So, on every occasion, we feel to demonstrate our worth back, some going as far as to show that they have

"Rube" was made to believe that he had really injured the man, and the amateur magistrate considered it a very serious offense, but if "Rube" would behave himself in the future and not leave the city for sixty days the magistrate would forgive him, as the man was improving, and they thought he would be all right in a few days. This kept "Rube" on his good behavior for quite a while and served its purpose.

THE CINCINNATI STARS.

The Best Colored Team About That City.

Special to The Freeman:

CINCINNATI, O.—Cincinnati Stars, the best colored team around Cincinnati since the days of the old Waldorfs, under the management of Charlie Grant, have defeated some of the best white semi-professional teams in Ohio, such as Ludlow White Sox, Superbas, Louisville White Sox, Lexington Hustlers, and the Dayton Marcos. On the 26th day of July the A. B. C's. booked a team from Cincinnati called the Fast Flying Virginians, better known as the Eighth Ward Centrals, who play preliminary games to the Stars. Perritt, who was given a try-out by Rube Foster's American Giants, is pitching great ball for the Stars. Tip Pendleton, formerly of the Pekin Specials, is playing fine ball for the Stars. Willy Bubbles is best third baseman since the days of Sammy Jackson.

CHARLES GRANT,
Manager Cincinnati Stars.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—A proposed tour in Europe in the fall by all-German and all-Irish baseball clubs probably will be called off, it was said today at headquarters of the Chicago American League club. Ted Sullivan, manager of the late world tour by the Chicago Americans and New York Nationals, is marooned in Europe by suspension of trans-Atlantic steam sailings. Sullivan was thought to be in England on his way to Ireland to arrange dates for the proposed tour.
