

VIGILANTS' BATTLE QUAKER CITY CLUB

Famous Philadelphia Giants Booked to Meet Local Independent Cham- pions Sunday and Monday.

Manager Oliveri, of the Vigilants, has succeeded in securing, after a great deal of wrangling, the famous Philadelphia Giants, one of the strongest traveling teams in the country, and which is booked direct from New York by the well-known booking agency of Nat C. Strong.

The Giants are well known throughout this country as having played many of the big league teams and always giving a good account of themselves. They are this week playing a series of games with the Royal Giants, Lincoln Giants, and Cuban Giants at Atlantic City, and are playing to tremendous crowds. This should be a big attraction for the fans of this city, and no doubt was only booked after considerable expense.

This team will play a double-header each day, Sunday, August 31, and Monday, September 1 (Labor Day), the first game being with the Washington Giants and the second game with our strong local champions, the Vigilants, at Vigilant Park, Fifteenth and H Streets Northeast.

Manager Oliveri, anticipating a large crowd, has prepared ropes for the field. The first game will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock, with Joe Handiboe and Billy Betts handling the indicator on Sunday and Mr. Betts working with another local umpire on Monday.

Washington Herald, Washington, DC

Friday, August 29, 1913, Page 8, Column 1