

SUNDAY BASEBALL GAMES.

The Lincoln Giants and the St. Louis Giants, the strong colored teams, will play another double-header at Olympic Field. This will be the last appearance of the St. Louis Giants in New York, as they leave for home immediately after the conclusion of the second game. The St. Louis Giants have already defeated the Lincoln's in three games.

The Royal Giants will be the opponents of the Bronx Athletics at Bronx Oval. The Royals will have out all their stars. In the first game, at 2 P. M., the Bronx Nationals will play the Craven Association.

The Newark Stars, the best independent team in New Jersey, will play the Metropolitans at Lenox Oval in the early game at 1.45 P. M. the Outlooks and Browns of the Bronx Amateur League will meet in a scheduled game.

One the season's best double-headers will be played at McNulty Field. In the opening game the New York Blue Sox of Harlem will play the Independents of The Bronx, and the winner will line up against the McNulty team in the afterpiece.

At Loughlin Oval, Jackson street and Kingsland avenue, Brooklyn, the fans will be entertained by a double-header. In the first engagement the All Kents will meet the Avonias, while the second half of the bill will bring together the Poughkeepsie team and the Elizabeth Stars.

The Pittsburg Giants will play the Long Island Athletics in Recreation Park, Jackson and Steinway avenues, Long Island City. In the opening game at 1.30 P. M., the Orients will tackle the American Express Company's team.

The Evening World, New York, NY

Saturday, August 12, 1911, Page 6, Column 2