The good right arm of "Soldier"
Moser and Manager Mike Donovan's

Little stick shoved the rebuilt Salt Lake machine just a wee bit farther out of the cellar and toward the effete company of the first division out at Walker's field yesterday. It was an exciting game of baseball and, like the others of the past two weeks, deserved the support of every true fan in the city. Incidentally, the score was 2 to 1.

Mooney did the heaving for the colored boys, and don't ever permit anyone to inform you that this human string didn't have something "on 'em" yesterday. Moser, the Salt Lake slabster, was there with bells on, and dished out a brand of pitching that would have been hard to beat in any company. But, after all is said and done, a great big share of the credit must be given to little Bock and to Manager Mike Donovan for their timely bingles which ended the matinee and brought in the winning runs.

The game was exciting from start to finish, and for eight innings did the two teams battle without a run on either side. Each side had several opportunities to score, but each time all efforts were nipped in the bud, and, with the two pitchers dishing up their galvanized slants in a most effective manner, it looked very much like one of those "called on account of darkness" affairs, or an extra inning contest at least. Up to the fatal ninth the Occidentals had garnered but two measly hits off Moser, and the Donovan pets had registered but three off Mooney.

With the opening of the ninth the Occidentals managed to send across one run after the hardest kind of effort. Hawkins lined one into right and took second a moment later on Langley's out at first. Langford, the next man up, gave Hawkins the "hit and run" signal, and with the delivery of the pitcher Hawkins beat it for third. Langford did his part by hitting the ball to Dan Donovan at short. Dan fielded the ball cleanly just as Hawkins was rounding third, but, instead of catching Hawkins at the plate, Dan got his wires crossed and made the play to first, Hawkins scoring with what appeared to be about the only run of the game. Not so, however.

Donovan's bunch came back in their half of the final inning with a vengeance. Bock, the first man out of the grab bag, soused one over Tennant's dome in right field. Mooney next pinked Good to first on four wide ones, and then the enthusiasm in the stands knew no bounds. It was up to Mike Donovan, and he was given a rousing hand as he stepped to the plate. After helping Good to second Mike selected a good one and stuck it through the infield so fast that it was all over but the shouting right then and there, both Bock and Good scoring with the necessary runs to win.

SATURDAY AT MURRAY.

While Salt Lake and Ogden were battling along in hitless fashion at Walker's field last Saturday afternoon, Murray and the Occidentals were engaged in a similar encounter down in the little smelter city. For seven innings the Occidentals had Murray shut out 1 to 0, but in the eighth an error and a general cloutfest gave Murray six runs and the game.

Langley started the ball rolling for Murray in the eighth when he permitted the third strike on Heusser, the first man up, to trickle through his hands. Hits by Mann and Margetts filled the bases. Scott laced out the ball and was immediately followed by a rapid succession of bingles until after the smoke had finally cleared, the Margetts team had piled up an even half dozen scores.

The game had many fast plays each pitcher getting good support. In the ninth inning Hawkins hit a screamer to right center and had he not collided with Rebscher when rounding second bag he would have reached home. As it was he was thrown out by inches.
