

The Louisville Giants are expected to play in this city during the season.

A Sunday baseball bill passed the House in the Minnesota Legislature last week.

The American Association believes the Indianapolis Sunday schedule will remain as arranged.

Indianapolis lost its first exhibition game to Philadelphia by a score of 4 to 3, but won the second, 4 to 1.

Ricahrd Jackson, captain of the Quick-steps baseball team, of Paris, Ky., has re-organized the team for the season, and it is open to all comers.

The A. B. C.'s and the T. T.'s will clash to-morrow in a double-header at Northwestern baseball park. This will be the first of the games to be played at the park.

The Indianapolis team of 1908, which won the pennant of the American Association of that year, created favorable comment throughout the circuit on its manly conduct. When disputes arose between the Hoosiers and their opponents, they were not settled by the whole team, but each member held his respective position, and Manager Carr represented the local team to its best advantage. This prevented rowdyism among the players and even among the fans. It is quite noticeable and at times annoying at some semi-professional and amateur games, especially, when disputes arise. Some players are exceedingly unsportsmanlike in times of disagreements, which often lead up to the fans becoming a little unthoughtful. What managers should do is to regard the fact that the fans have no kick on a manly team. Manager Carr would send his own men off the field for taking part in an argument, even if it be the strongest of the team. Even if the team you play doesn't regard the rules of sportsmanship, it is no excuse for you to forget yourself. A player should not lose his head, regard those who are in the position to dictate to him as having that right, play winning ball, but above all be a gentleman, a thing which is not an impossibility.

DIAMOND DUST FROM DALLAS.

Play ball!

Will the Lelands take all three games here?

The public expects a clean game this season.

Classy teams will get patronage, so its up to the managers to put forth their best efforts to obtain good players.

Greenville, Austin, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio and Dallas will have several semi-professional teams.

The fans of Dallas, Texas, are anxious to see the Leland Giants, the world's colored champions, in action. The Giants are scheduled to play there April 24, 25, and 26, as well as playing at Fort Worth, Waco, Temple and Marshall, Texas. Before the Chicagoans leave for home the fans of the big State will see some great ball playing.
