

The Times does not profess to be a base ball crank, but we plead guilty to considerable interest in the game between Harmony and the Colored Gophers, Friday. It held our attention from start to finish, in spite of the raw, cloudy weather and we submit that this is proof positive that the game was a good one. It was no secret that the Gophers intended to administer a crushing defeat to Harmony, but they didn't do it. It was claimed that they lost out last year because they "played horse", but this year they played ball and then they only got through with a score of three to two and the needed score was secured in the very last inning. Harmony covered itself with glory against odds and the Times congratulates.—Preston Times.
