

Two Teams of 'Giants' At Ebbets Field To-day

Brooklyn fans will not have to worry this afternoon about not having any major league ball game across the bridge, as Charley Ebbets, in the absence of the Dodgers, has arranged a game for Ebbets Field between two of the strongest semi-pro teams in the East, the Bacharach Giants, of Atlantic City, and the Lincoln Giants, of this city.

A month ago the Bacharachs and Lincolns played two exciting contests at the Brooklyn field and broke even. Redding and Williams will pitch in the opening game of the bargain bill, which will start at 3 o'clock.

New York Tribune, New York, NY

Sunday, August 29, 1920, Page 18, Column 5