

LINCOLNS VS. ROYALS.

Teams Will Clash at Olympic Field To-day.

The Lincoln Giants and the Royal Giants will resume their baseball series at Olympic Field in Harlem this afternoon. They already have played six games in their ten game set and the Lincolns have the edge by a game. To-day's double header will come pretty close to deciding the winner of the series. The Lincolns have been playing topnotch ball since their winning visit to Atlantic City and are strong favorites over their rivals.

Both teams are being strongly backed. The rivalry is exceptionally keen and good tussles are assured. Williams and Harney will pitch for the Royals and Cyclone Joe Williams and Dandy for the Lincolns.

The Sun, New York, NY

Sunday, July 29, 1917, Section 2, Page 5, Column 1