SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Dec. 10. —With Old Reliable Jasper on the mound for the Wrecking Crew the 25th Infantry twisted the tail of the red-chevroned team from the Artillery Brigade to the tune of 6 to 0 on the post diamond here on Saturday.

At no time was Jasper in any danger. One man, Miller, touched him for a safety and stole second in the first inning. In the second inning Gauthier singled to left, but the other seven frames were goose eggs both for hits and for runs.

Burnett Pitches Well

The pitching of Burnett for the Artillery was far above his last performance here against the Wrecking Crew. This time he held them to eight scattered hits, none of which would have counted for runs except in the eighth inning, when a triple, a double, a single, a sacrifice fly and two hit batters gave four runs to Burnett's opponents. The two runs in the third inning were occasioned by two singles, a fumble and a wild heave by Montgomery to second in an attempt to catch Rogan off the keystone sack. The attempt resulted in the ball hitting Rogan and bouncing off from his midriff into centerfield, allowing Rogan and Smith, who was on third, to come home.

Moore Stars

The fielding of Moore, the centerfielder of the Artillery Brigade, was almost perfect. He accepted five chances with only one bobble, and in the third inning he made a heave from center-field to the plate that was a dream of beauty and cut off Jasper, who had tried to score from third after the catch was made. The fans of both sides gave him the cheers and applause that the splendid play deserved.

With the willow Rogan and Fagin share the honors, although only three men of the Wrecking Crew failed to register in the "BH" column of the box score.

The Artillery Brigade opened the game at bat. Kearns was out, Fagin to Hawkins. Montgomery went out, Smith to Hawkins. Miller singled to center-field and then purloined second, but died there when Moore flew out to Goliah in right.

In the 25th's half Smith was safe on Gauthier's fumble. Rogan flew out to Fouquette in left pasture. Johnson forced Smith at second, Kearns to Miller, and Goliah whiffed for the third out.

For the Wreckers Hawkins flew out to Gauthier. Fagin singled to left and advanced to second on Fouquette's fumble of the hit. Aulston smote the breeze and Moore flew out to his namesake in center-field.

From here on the Artillery never got a man on base, the outs coming one-two-three in each inning.

Wreckers Score

For the 25th Jasper singled to right, advanced to second on Smith's single to left field, and to third when Kearns fumbled Rogan's easy grounder. Johnson flew out to Moore in center. Jasper tried for home on the out and was himself out on Moore's perfect throw from center to Montgomery at the plate, Smith advancing to third on the play. Rogan then stole second and when Montgomery made his wild heave to second and hit Rogan both Smith and Rogan scored. Goliah made the third out with a fly to center.

There was no more scoring for the 25th until the eighth, when Rogan made a three-bagger to left pasture. Burnett then lost his control and proceeded to hit the next two batters, Johnson and Goliah, filling the bases. Hawkins flew out to Fouquette in left field, scoring Rogan and advancing Johnson and Goliah. Fagin's double to left scored Johnson and Goliah. Swinton was out at first, Kearns to Penman, advancing Fagin to third, from which he scored on Moore's single to right. Jasper was out, Miller to Penman.

The failure of the Artillerymen to register in their half of the ninth ended the game, with another scalp hanging to the belt of the Wrecking Crew.
