

BARONS PLAY WELL BUT DROP CONTEST TO ROYAL GIANTS

Hard-Fought Game is Won by the Negroes by the Close Score of 4 to 3

PITCHERS SHOW FORM

Manning, Tuero and Tencate
Allow the Giants Only Five
Bingles

The Barons lost a splendidly played exhibition game to the Brooklyn Royal Giants yesterday afternoon at Diamond Park by the score of 4 to 3. Although the Calhounites outhit the gentlemen of color, they were unable to bunch bingles successfully, while the Giants managed to get their hits when they had men on bases, generally the result of passes.

Manager Calhoun used Manning, Tuero and Tencate on the mound and all of them showed to excellent advantage. The local trio was somewhat wild, but this was due to the lack of work. When it is considered that the dusky aggregation has been playing ball for several months the showing of the Barons is highly pleasing to the fans.

Manager Earle, of the Giants, used Lefty Harvey, one of the best negro pitchers in the game, against the Calhounites. The portsider had everything and the way he buzzed them through there was a caution. The locals had quite a time getting started and it looked for awhile as though they were going to be blanked, but they finally got onto the left-handers' slants and made it very interesting. In fact, the Barons had a number of chances to win, but lacked the decisive punch.

Webster and Harvey were the only Giants who could hit the local pitchers, Webster getting three bingles and Harvey two. Orcutt and Reichle were high for the Barons, each bagging a brace of safeties. There was a fair sized crowd in attendance. The scores:
