

THE CHICAGO COLORED GIANTS [PORTLAND OREGONIAN.]

Twenty-three games will be played in the Pacific Northwest this spring by the Chicago Colored Giants. Their tour will commence immediately after they have concluded their eight-game series with the Portland Coast champions at Fresno. They will start north on March 29, and their first game will be at Eugene against the Oregon university team on March 31. The following day the Giants will make their appearance in Portland against an all-star city league outfit.

Northwest league clubs will then monopolize their attention for two weeks, and Rube Foster will close his tour with games at Moscow against the University of Idaho and at Pullman against Washington State college, April 19th and 20th.

The Giants have to be back in Chicago on April 25 to begin their league schedule.
