

LINCOLN GIANTS HERE TOMORROW

Famous Colored Team Will Clash With New Trenton Club
in First Wednesday Game

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the Wednesday baseball season in Trenton tomorrow when the Lincoln Giants will be the attraction at the American Bridge Field, the home of the new Trenton team. The local team which has been organized by Messrs Harry Klein, Manager of the American Bridge Club, and Orty Justice and W. H. Howell, of the Morrisville club, to represent this city in the independent field in mid-week games, will comprise all Delaware River League players from Trenton and vicinity, four of the six D. R. L. teams being represented on the team. The Lincoln Giants, the attraction here tomorrow in the first of the Wednesday games, is from the Nat C. Strong agency in New York, which handles only the strongest attractions in the independent field and is the greatest aggregation of colored ball players ever gathered together. The club is recognized throughout the country as the world's colored champions and that they will give the local boys a great battle is a foregone conclusion.

"Cyclone Joe" Williams, known as the "Black Christy Mathewson," will do the hurling for the negro team. Williams is big league timber and but for his color would undoubtedly be one of the leading twirlers in the major leagues.

Besides furnishing an attraction of baseball, colored ball players are always extremely funny on the ball field and this club is no exception and can be expected to keep their audience in fits of laughter from the time the game starts until it is over.

The local club will line-up as follows: Doc Imlay, of the American Bridge club, pitcher; Orty Justice, of the Morrisville club, catcher; Mason, Craig and Johnson, of the Morrisville club, will take care of first, second and third, respectively; Werner, of the Columbia team, will be at shortstop; Connolly, of the Roebling team, left field; Horton and Nolan, of the Morrisville club, will play center and rightfield, respectively, while Yates, the all-around fielder and pitcher, of Morrisville, will be used as utility player. Harry Hough, who has been gaining quite a reputation as a baseball arbitrator in the preparatory school field, will be given a chance to show the local fans his ability as an umpire and will handle the indicator. The management of the project has set the time for the game at 4 o'clock in order that those fans at work may get away to see as much of the game as possible. The announcement of the attraction for next Wednesday will probably be made at the game tomorrow afternoon.
