

ALL KINDS OF BASE BALL HANCED OUT

Occidentals and Salt Lake
Each Drop Two, and Murray Climbs.

	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Murray	7	2	.778
Ogden	5	4	.555
Occidentals	4	5	.445
Salt Lake	2	7	.222

What the Occidental and Murray teams of the Utah state league did to the dear old game of baseball at Walker's field yesterday afternoon will go down in the Utah record books as something that will stand for some time to come. Murray romped off the field with the long end of a 15 to 7 score, but that isn't half of the story—the two teams were charged with more errors and plays of the dizzy kind than the "Ivory" league ever had during an entire season.

It may have been due to the condition in which the circus left the grounds, but be that as it may, the errors came thicker than flies in a bowery hash house. Beyond peradventure of a doubt—it was the limit. Thirty boots and bones were the result of the afternoon's affair. Every other ball hit into in or outfield was booted while the crowd of about fifteen hundred fans sang "Boots and Saddles."

Murray started out with a slight lead, but this was overcome by the colored boys in the fourth. Mooney, for the Occidentals, started to pitch good ball, but with the support he was accorded no pitcher could have landed on top. The absence of Captain Black was undoubtedly responsible for the stunts pulled off by the colored boys. Beginning with the fifth inning, Margetts' sluggers proceeded to get busy and, with the assistance of some more bone headed stunts from the colored boys, piled up runs as they pleased.

The Occidentals were not alone in piling up the errors, however, as the Murray bunch also took a hand and did everything from heaving it out of the gate to kicking it into the water bucket.

It was one of those games in which everything goes wrong, and as the fans know well that both teams can play better ball, the two aggregations can no doubt be forgiven for the exhibition.

This afternoon the two teams are meeting at Murray, where Heusser and Langford will be the opposing pitchers.

The game in detail:

Murray—	A.B.	R.	H.	P.O.	A.	E.
Mann, c.	7	2	2	4	1	1
Margetts, cf.	6	0	2	1	0	1
Scott, rf.	6	2	0	1	0	0
Rebscher, 2b.	6	2	1	4	3	3
Kaefer, 1b.	4	0	0	12	0	0
Gunn, 3b.	5	2	2	0	3	2
Castro, ss.	5	3	2	2	4	3
Tegunn, lf.	5	1	3	3	0	1
Price, p.	5	3	3	0	6	0
	40	15	15	27	17	11

Occidentals—	A.B.	R.	H.	P.O.	A.	E.
Hawkins, ss.	4	0	1	4	4	3
Langley, c.	5	1	0	5	3	2
Langford, lf.	5	0	0	1	0	1
Burns, cf.	5	1	2	1	0	1
Lane, 3b.	4	1	2	1	0	1
Robinson, 2b.	4	1	0	6	2	2
Mooney, c.	4	1	2	0	3	2
Tennant, 1b.	3	0	1	2	0	3
Lawrence, rf.	4	2	1	1	0	2
Greaves, 1b.	2	0	0	2	0	2
	40	7	8	24	13	19

Score by innings—

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R.	H.	E.
Murray	0	3	1	0	3	1	4	2	1	15	15	11
Occidentals ...	0	2	0	4	0	1	0	0	0	7	8	19

The summary: Bases on balls—Off Mooney 3. Struck out—By Mooney 5, by Price 8. Passed balls—Langley 1. Two base hits—Margetts and Gunn. Three base hits—Mann. Sacrifice hits—Hawkins. Sacrifice fly—Castro. Double plays—Rebscher to Castro to Kaefer; Gunn to Rebscher to Kaefer; Lane to Robinson to Greaves. Earned runs—Occidentals 1. Left on bases—Occidentals 8, Murray 16. Time of game—Two hours and fifteen minutes. Umpire—Aimes. Attendance—1500.

The Salt Lake Telegram, Salt Lake City, UT

Monday Evening, July 4, 1910, Page 9, Column 4